12:10:02	From BobbiJo Bruno: I am reading a book called, When a Child Kills-abused children who kill their p	arents. What horrible heart breaking abuse these kids go through.

12:10:30	From jadymoses: Jady here!
12:13:17	From Deborah Doyle : Debbie Doyle checking in from Ottawa Canada
12:22:11	From nicole: exactly, I've never seen resolve. only defeated.
12:22:29	From Deborah Doyle : Is there a preferred section to start?
12:24:26	From Lynn: Lynn: What order would you set up the program?
12:29:12	From kathymedlin: Kathy Medlin has been here, but forgot to check in.
12:42:52 Debra.	From Paul Kovolew: That's what I use to hear when I work in the prison system Dr.

12:46:54 From Deborah Doyle: All of this discussion ... being accountable and taking responsibility ... I have just been advised by a victim that the police "cozied up" with her abuser a few weeks ago when she phoned 911 for help. The abuser painted the victim as crazy and the police bought in hook line and sinker. The abuser is a doctor and being in a small town, the police officers know him from the E.R. at the hospital ... very disturbing small town behaviour and points out the need for pushing all of this forward

12:52:35 From	nicole: wow.	that is rare and	good to hear.

12:59:40 From Paul Kovolew: In doing groups, are having a male and female co-facilitators preferable, so they can model partnership being practiced?

13:00:47 From Ellie : ellie Dyk here super late

13:03:10 From Kymberly Merrick : I have facilitated alone several times

13:04:54 From Ellie: you are answering questions I have had about your work

13:05:17 From Paul Kovolew: In co-facilitating a groups, have you ever overstep your boundaries, like carry too heavy a hand or confronted harshly? Is so, did you use that as a teaching moment and opportunity to hold yourself accountable and discuss with the group? Paul, as a female facilitator with female co-facilitators, I was very mindful of how I spoke in group and I found it much more helpful to shift the heavy confrontation to other group members where it was better received.

13:05:48	From Ell	ie : I'm getting chills. very brav	е
13:06:47	From Ell	ie : anyone having audio troub	le?

13:07:05 From Jim Upchurch : Audio is fine on my end Ellie

13:07:39 From Paul Kovolew: Dr. Debra, when I worked with inmates involved in sexual offender treatment, I did overstep my boundary and was too harsh. In essence, I took upon the role of an oppressor. I regret that and have learn from that.

- 13:09:18 From Ellie: can you write all that down for us? (The words you said show repentance)?
- 13:11:21 From Paul Kovolew: I like that Jim. I also like what Chris Moles says about repentance implies in these questions: When is a liar no longer a liar? Not when he stops lying, but when he becomes a truth-sayer. Also, when is a their no longer a thief? Not when he stops stealing, but when he learns to become generous.
- 13:12:23 From Ellie: would love to hear examples of the signals that indicate a shallow repentance
- 13:14:55 From Paul Kovolew: So, what is the extent of help you have to offer for an abuser is lacks the capacity to empathize? Antisocial Personality Disorder
- 13:20:45 From Ellie: that's very moving to hear that
- 13:21:17 From Ellie: (The story about some socially reluctant being drawn out.)
- 13:25:18 From Paul Kovolew: Dr. Debra, I like the way you accommodated the needs of your clients, but still held them accountable.
- 13:28:47 From Paul Kovolew: What actions did you take to help/mitigate the histrionic client from playing drama card?
- 13:34:09 From Ellie: that story of the man who couldn't read is very moving
- 13:36:58 From Paul Kovolew: Yes Jim. My son-in-law apologize for hitting my daughter and was in tears. He appeared truly remorseful. Claimed he was fine now. A few weeks later, he abused again. False remorse and repentance.
- 13:39:46 From Ellie: So smart to not teach the empathy skills when you know they will use it as a tool of control.
- 13:42:45 From Jim Upchurch: Paul, so sorry to hear that about your daughter. I'd def be tempted in that situation to overstep bounds.
- 13:44:23 From Paul Kovolew: I have JIm, made my share of mistakes, but have leaned from them. It's been a a walk in faith. The most important thing I've learned is to be there for my daughter and listen.
- 13:44:47 From Paul Kovolew: Thank-you Dr. Debra! Great class.
- 13:45:57 From nicole: thank you.
- 13:46:03 From Warren Lemke: Thanks, Dr. Debra!
- 13:46:19 From Deborah Doyle: thank you Dr Debra!
