- 12:09:05 From Keri Drowatzky : are the victims able to get donated cell phones if they can,'t afford to buy others? ie. Walmart types, disposables once previous owners delete all of their old information.
- 12:09:38 From Melanie : We occasionally ask our church for donated phones for Refuge clients.
- 12:09:39 From Steph : Some of us know a woman who had given her husband's phone access to her Apple account and she recently found out that he could see all of her texts. She had to get Apple to help her disconnect him, and that process wiped his phone.
- 12:12:26 From Barbie : Barbie from Ohio
- 12:12:54 From Patricia Cleveland : New carrier, new phone, should phone number be changed as well?

12:13:17 From Steph : Haha

12:13:53 From Kathy to Dr. Debra Wingfield(Direct Message) : I wrote this to him privately....I don't want to share it publically. What would you do if your abusing husband was in a position similar to you? He was accessing things I wasn't aware of. He was police removed from our family. We are safe now.

12:14:29 From Christine : How can a woman handle the fallout if she is still with this abuser? I could see it becoming very bad!

12:14:58 From Christine : Thank you. I think he just answered my question.

12:15:01 From denawheeler : What does "spoof" your phone mean?

12:26:16 From loriferebee : Working with an abuser who's work is cyber security. Can he hack into new wifi if he is close enough? Can he use a smart light bulb? (A random Bluetooth light bulb showed up randomly on the list of devices in home)

12:26:18 From Keri Drowatzky : what is encryption?

12:26:43 From Diana Joren : what is the danger behind fitbit?

12:31:37 From Carol Michaels : Can someone listen to your conversation by putting spyware on your phone? If so, how far away from the phone should you be when having a conversation so they can't hear

12:34:21 From Carol Michaels : oh my word.

12:35:23 From loriferebee : If I suspect a bug in a stuffed animal, how do I check? How can I check home for bugs in general?

12:35:54 From Carol Michaels : It sounds like her resignation to the fact that he is listening to her everywhere and there is no hope of avoiding it is true.

12:36:52 From Kathy : Could you please write the name of the bag, please?

12:36:59 From Steph : Oh, wow, that's brilliant!!!

12:37:29 From Barbie : Excellent idea to have one available for someone else if needed. Thanks!

12:46:28 From Steph : Awesome, thanks!

12:50:31 From Keri Drowatzky : Just for my own info: is it advisable. to have a Vic/ survivor to place a small camera on her own car if she's being harassed by the husband or boyfriend to see when he is around and trying to sabotage her car.

12:55:19 From Wendy Collier : You may have addressed this but is there a way to make sure your emails are not accessible to someone else?

12:56:12 From Kathy : Could you talk about safety for sending children with phones to abusing fathers? How to keep their phones safe from their dad using it for wrong purposes.

12:56:28 From Pam Hull : Good question, Kathy!

12:57:26 From loriferebee : Different devices for each home. Do not allow dad's phones to be on/used in mom's home.

12:58:10 From Pam Hull : That's tough when the kids are teenagers and refuse to give up that phone

12:58:15 From Carol Michaels : Thank You

12:58:18 From denawheeler : place toy, burn phone etc in a Faraday!
