No doubt women who have been abused for a long time have begun to believe things about themselves that are very unhealthy so does that need to be unraveled first before she can then begin to think about her abusive behaviour towards her partner in a healthy way?

12:16:49 From Dana De Vane-Webster to Everyone:

How does one change the language from "high conflict divorce" to a "coercive control divorce" in the courts? It seems the former is the common nomenclature instead of the latter. But true it is unfair to label the woman, who is the victim, as a contributing high conflict party.

12:21:21 From Kathy to Everyone:

12:55:35 From Patricia Cleveland to Everyone:

13:08:14 From Loes Tam to Everyone:

In the case of a husband forcing his wife to get pregnant on his schedule if he was religious he may have possibly used the Bible verse that says that the wife's body belongs to him.. However, he has conveniently forgotten that equally his body belongs to her so he cannot do what he wants to do... instead they are meant to be physically intimate when both desire for that to take place..

13:13:35 From Dana De Vane-Webster to Everyone:

What is the reaction of men when they are told that in groups about their bodies belonging to the wife as well?

13:16:42 From Kathy to Everyone:

Thank you!
