“When the hurt is deep and the work is slow,

you don’t want to hold it anymore.

We can’t make ourselves let go,

it’s gotta fall away.

Gotta keep an open heart and mind,

let the changes happen deep inside.

The prison of the past in time is gonna fall away.”

- 11:46:53 From Jessica Evans : The interpretation "God hates divorce" began with King James's translators. For the prior 2,100 years, it was not interpreted that way. For the first 2,100 years, it was interpreted as an anti-treachery verse, not an anti-divorce verse. In 1996 after the Dead Sea scroll fragment of Malachi 2:16 (the oldest known copy of Malachi 2:16) was published, many scholars interpreted it again as an anti-treachery verse. The New International Version (NIV 2011), English Standard Version (ESV) and Christian Standard Bible (CSB) have this anti-treachery interpretation.

- 11:47:07 From Becki Johnson : The pastor of the church I had to leave when my husband caused us to be homeless, told me he wasn't comfortable with me divorcing him, even after I told him about my husband's criminal behavior towards me.

"Therefore keep watch on your spirit, so that you do not deal treacherously [with your wife]."
- 11:47:12 From Helenmary : The church is an organism, not an organization. One joint supplies another--they often don't release people well who are being called somewhere else or moving on--an area where we need more insight and maturity.

11:55:54 From Rebecca noel : I think in book 3 of Rebecca Davis, "untwisting scriptures" mentioned II Timothy 3:1-5 and Titus 3:10-11. These two verses really opened my eyes that God does not want us to stay in an abusive relationship. God gives us a way out. He says we need to avoid abusive people. Boy, my eyes got opened. I cried. For 25 years, pastors told me I couldn't divorce. I had to stay married to my abuser. And here in these verses, God said, "No, you dont." You can leave." I can get out and stay out. Those passages set me free. It settled this issue for me. All those years, I could have left, and God would not be mad at me. He would not punish me. The pastors lied to me for years.

12:43:38 From Rebecca noel : I wish the pastors of the churches would apologize to me and my kids. Course, it was many years ago. My kids are adults. Because I listened to pastors of the churches I was in, telling me to stay with my abuser, my two daughters ended up being sexually abused by their dad. It is affecting their marriages with their husbands today. I encouraged both daughters to read "The great sex rescue" by Sheila gregoire. That book set me free from the toxic "purity culture" that my kids and I grew up in. But the girls are not receptive to reading this book yet. All four of my kids were physically abused by their dad for years. I found out about it when I and my youngest daughter fled her dad in 2013. My daughter told me about many episodes of abuse to her and her siblings. I was stunned and heartbroken. I left abuser 4 timeThree times, pastors told me to go back and make the marriage work. If I had listened to my gut telling me to stay put back in 2000, my kids would not have been abused as long as they were when we stayer

13:11:45 From Chief : The work of Men of Peace and G5 is difficult and not every participant will change. Chris Moles advised me that most often, the perpetrator will expose themselves within the first 6-8wks to the point of high probability of success, or not.

Difficult choice is when to 'give them up to God' as those that won't change will waste a lot of time and resources.

One of my daughters was dealing with her neighbor who was in an abusive relationship. I gave her a book about abuse so she would be better equipped to recognize and counsel her friend about what was going on. As my daughter read the book, a light went on in her head/heart and she saw that it described her father. Without me going into the gory details, she realized what I had gone through. She was then able to let go of her anger at me for divorcing her father, and have compassion for me that she never had before.
