12:40:10 From Keri Drowatzky : My Sunday School leader is a lawyer. He has dealt with victims of abuse, he believes in the alienation theory and honeymoon phase in abuse. I told him this was a myth but being a lawyer he tried to refute this. I just let him talk.

12:43:32 From Audrey Whitaker : Replying to "My Sunday School lea..."

I think it's the honeymoon phase in the cycle of abuse, I do feel that is a thing. where everything blows up, then the abuser gets real sweet for a time to suck the victim back in and give her a false sense that maybe things will get better. then the cycle of abuse continues Please refer to course #1 Coercive Control and the Captivity Crime Process. It may appear to be a honeymoon when in actuality it is designed to draw her deeper into the web.

12:43:43 From Joy Parks : Replying to "My Sunday School lea..."

In my experience in listening to Sarah McDugal - the nuances of saying cycle of abuse is that "it's all abuse", there is no honeymoon. She refers to it as manipulative kindness I believe.

13:10:39 From iPhoneTina Lawson : So Agree SO MUCH INFO...
Need to have help organizing ALL these resources...my brain can only handle much 😊
So Helpful to hear this reminder Tabi.

13:12:37 From cindymorris : Where can I send a young man who is in a marriage where he is over functioning and being taken advantage of?

13:13:31 From cindymorris : QUESTION: Where can I send a young man who is in a marriage where he is over functioning and being taken advantage of? I'm a confidant to this young man in the Raleigh area. Know of a good counselor?

13:14:11 From cindymorris : Thank-you!

13:14:19 From Keri Drowatzky : My cousin was financially, emotionally and physically abused by his first wife. He wasn't one to fight back. He is somewhat mentally handicapped. He did have some problems for awhile. She wasn't a nice person.

13:14:44 From iPhoneTina Lawson : Most of them (make victims) aren't "Home school moms or leaders in churches"...
